Background
Known for being auditors, KPMG Federal Advisory wanted to create brand awareness around the advisory services they provided to the federal government and position themselves as a technology provider.

Objective
Focus on the Pentagon, and other federal agencies for general awareness in the Defense and Federal Healthcare sectors, along with satellite agencies and military installations.

Strategy
KPMG used a layered OOH approach with 40 buses (kings with headliners), 12 commuter buses, 40 digital boards across 10 subway stations, 20 bike share locations, and geo-targeting in 30+ specific areas. KPMG also created a landing page where visitors could learn about them and their social media “scavenger hunt” to find ads and schedule a meeting.
