Sunkist Soak Up Some Flavor Summer Campaign

Campaign Objective

Sunkist was looking to increase awareness of its different flavors while driving grocery store visits to purchase their products. The out of home and mobile media mix allowed them to promote the four types of Sunkist flavors while calling out the closest grocery store that carried the product. They put mobile retargeting to use based on mobile devices that passed the “Soak up some Flavor” creative billboards. This triggered mobile ads with similar creative, “Try All the Flavors Under the Sun” to be served on the consumers’ mobile device directing them to the closest grocery store.
